

Copyright ©2007 Arne Babenhauserheide, License: cc by-sa.

^D The ^A power of the ^E magic, the ^G magic of the spell,
^D brought her out of ^A danger, ^C brought her out of ^G hell.

^D Beauty in her ^A eyes and ^E beauty in her ^G face, ^D magic in her ^A heart, but no ^C magic in the ^G mind.

^D Her mother was ^A against her, the ^E queen of the ^G castle,
^D crying out for ^A power, for ^C power to ^G prevail.

^d Lonely ^a girl, ^d beautiful ^a girl,
^d arrogant ^a girl with ^C magic in her ^G heart.

Her queen needed a life, taken away from a human,
 tried to take another, another than her own,
 Her kingdom was freezing, the mana was fading,
 by fleeing her mother, she finally ran away.

^d Lonely ^a girl, ^d beautiful ^a girl,
^d arrogant ^a girl with ^C magic in her ^G heart.

Carried by the magic, the magic in her heart,
 safe from the grip of her mothers magic hands,
 Alone in the cold, but living at least,
 she awoke outside the castle and ask'd her where to go.

^d Slowly she walked ^a south to be ^e attacked by ^a fierce fiends,
^a after the ^C victory the ^G cold took her in its ^a hands. ^{dd7}

^d She awoke in the ^C bed of an ^a all unknown ^a house,
^D selfishly ^A stepping out without ^E a ^G thank you.

(- last line strummed -)

Recording available at <http://www.draketo.de/english/songs/light/seiken-densetsu-3-bardstale>